

PREFACE

Class P: Subclasses PB-PH, Modern European Languages, was originally published in 1933 and was reprinted in 1966 with supplementary pages of additions and changes. PG2900-PG3698 (Russian Literature) was published as a separate schedule in 1948 and was reprinted in 1965 with supplementary pages of additions and changes. Beginning with the 1999 edition, the Russian literature numbers were incorporated into the main text. A 2005 edition cumulated all additions and changes that were made during the period 1999-2005 and was followed by a 2009 edition. This 2016 edition cumulates changes made since the 2015 edition was published.

In the Library of Congress classification schedules, classification numbers or spans of numbers that appear in parentheses are formerly valid numbers that are now obsolete. Numbers or spans that appear in angle brackets are optional numbers that have never been used at the Library of Congress but are provided for other libraries that wish to use them. In most cases, a parenthesized or angle-bracketed number is accompanied by a "see" reference directing the user to the actual number that the Library of Congress currently uses, or a note explaining Library of Congress practice.

Access to the online version of the full Library of Congress Classification is available on the World Wide Web by subscription to Classification Web. Details about ordering and pricing may be obtained from the Cataloging Distribution Service at

New or revised numbers and captions are added to the LC Classification schedules as a result of development proposals made by the cataloging staff of the Library of Congress and cooperating institutions. Upon approval of these proposals by the editorial meeting of the Policy and Standards Division, new classification records are created or existing records are revised in the master classification database. Lists of newly approved or revised classification numbers and captions are posted on the World Wide Web at Janis L. Young, senior cataloging policy specialist in the Policy and Standards Division, is responsible for coordinating the overall intellectual and editorial content of class P and its various subclasses. Kent Griffiths and Ethel Tillman, assistant editors of classification schedules, are responsible for creating new classification records, maintaining the master database, and creating index terms for the captions.
